5 DAYS TRAINING PROGRAMME ON

“Safety & Fire Fighting Management in industries”

from 3rd to 7th December, 2018.

PROGRAMME PERSPECTIVE:

The outbreak of major fire occurs in a blue moon. But the magnitude of loss and damage it inflicts to the industry is quite staggering. Fire loss consequences involve property damage, business interruption, life safety, environmental issues, corporate image and future probability. Similarly, lack of proper safety and fire management often causes death and destruction. As such safety and fire management are closely interrelated in industrial operation. Safety is concerned with accident free service through identification, control and prevention of various hazards responsible for causing work related accidents and occupational diseases. Therefore a systematic and scientific integration of safety and firefighting management is very much essential in industries from economic, legal, social, corporate and national viewpoints.

In view of the above aspects, Regional labour institute, Government of India, working under DGFASLI, Mumbai and a technical wing of Ministry of Labour and Employment, Lake Town, Kolkata-700089 has designed this training programme on “Safety & Firefighting management in industries” from 3rd to 7th December, 2018 to enrich knowledge and expertise for dealing with an emergency situation in general and fire hazards in particular.
